

I have no Time for Time

By LloydOxton

Published on Stories Space on 09 Feb 2016

Where did all the Time go?

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/flash-fiction/i-have-no-time-for-time.aspx>

I have no Time for Time Another second elapses in the world of the artificial constrains we have made ourselves, that of time. "I have no time for them!" "Time is of the essence" "Let's do it, quick-time now!" No, Enough! Time is something we bind ourselves by, make ourselves slaves to. We have the power to break these bonds of hours, day, years, or seconds. We actually live in the moment. The past has done just that, past. The future is never reached as it becomes the present after each aching second has elapsed. So live for now! For 'Now' is all we ever have to enjoy. So enjoy the Now.