

A Chance Encounter

By LovelyTiff

Published on Stories Space on 29 Mar 2015

It could happen to anyone.

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/micro-fiction/a-chance-encounter.aspx>

I had a meeting in ten minutes and I really had to pee. In my haste, I practically ran to the bathroom stall. Quickly shutting the door, I set down, sighing with relieve as I began to pee. Upon finishing, I walked to the sink. As I looked in the mirror I noticed two men staring at me. I squealed, realizing I was in the men's bathroom. I stammered my apology, explaining that I really had to pee. They just looked at me, laughing. I looked at my watch as I ran from the room. Damn, I was already late.