

Fresh Start

By starlight4ever

Published on Stories Space on 02 Oct 2019

Copyright@2019 All rights reserved Starlight4ever

New Beginings

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/-fresh-start-.aspx>

You told me that I had to learn and learn boundaries and learn patience but my heart didn't want to
We had been away for awhile but we found each other again the old memories making way for new ones the past forgiven and put aside for a fresh new beginning a time to grow and learn again to find each other's hearts desires but my heart wanted to do more

my blood pumped in my veins threatening to burst from the

the well of deep desire waiting for your kiss that will ignite me and fill me with delight

But I know I need to wait and be patient for that lover's kiss

I pull the covers up over me and shiver and anticipate our next dateand our new beginnings this time forevermore

