

Coming Home

By Sherzahd

Published on Stories Space on 01 Sep 2013

All works published by Sherzahd is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 2.5 South Africa License .

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/coming-home.aspx>

I hear you calling my name, But I can't come home to you. I feel the wind blow across my plains, It's calming my fears. I listen to the river tell me its tales; It's soothing my soul. Under these starry skies My thoughts are of you. Remember me like I used to be. Remember me when my soul was still free. I'm ready to follow the voice That's calling me home. Sound the bugles for me. I'm coming home.