

Don't you miss stanzas?

By Louise

Published on Stories Space on 16 Jun 2011

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/dont-you-miss-stanzas.aspx>

Don't you miss stanzas? I do I do They order you, my words, like soldiers in a game of strategy Separating ideas like Fair trade farmers shoving coffee beans into piles Don't you miss poetic devices? I do I do My good pals, onomatopoeia, assonance and allusion They take common words or phrases and imbue them with extraordinary meaning Don't you miss the simplicity of it all? I do I do Sometimes trying to reinvent the wheel is pointless If your work evokes a feeling, it will be enough, or it should be Don't you miss rhyming couplets? I do I do Though I hope to be the next Sandberg or even Ginsberg Being me, is enough, for now