I was always scared

I never knew what direction to go in

Fearing what lies ahead and how someone would treat me

Scared of love and passion

It could be from past experiences

Well it is from past experiences but I hate to admit that

I'd like to say I'm strong, that I don't let it bother me

Truth is, I've missed out on plenty of relationships due to it

Truth is, I've been so distant in the ones I do have, that I pushed them away

I have trust issues and I know it's a bad thing, but can you blame me

It wasn't easy getting here to where I am

It won't be easy to get to where I will be

And one day, someday, I'll be able to love and be loved

I'll be able to hold someone without being scared that they'll hurt me

I'll be able to trust and not worry

I see it in the future, now it's just my choice to run for it, or let it fade away
