

“How Many Tears Will It Take”

By kandikiss51

Published on Stories Space on 07 Feb 2012

All stories are original stories, both fiction and non-fiction. I retain all copyright and all rights reserved as per the copyright law of the United States. No portion or any story in it's entirety can be republished in any form without the written consent of myself. If you read my story on another site by another author name, ask me, as I have six sites, and six author names I write under.

Please God help me, and mend my broken heart!

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/how-many-tears-will-it-take.aspx>

I thought our love would be infinite past the end of time. I loved you with my whole being and that wasn't enough. We tried and said; maybe we could do more next time. However, fate dealt us a losing hand and it was rough. I ask myself how may tears will it take before I forget. Your tender kiss and the way we made love to each other. I see your face in everything I do; it's so hard to forget. But there is no us and I must move on and find another. I prayed to God, "Please help and mend my broken heart." Help me dry my tear and find a way for me to love again. He took my hand in his and tranquility overtook my heart. He then led me to you and gave me a reason to love again. There will be no more tears when I lay myself down tonight. God's love guided me to you and I can feel your love for me. My heart is healing and I know everything will be all right. Because when you kiss me, it ignites the passion within me.