

Never The Same

By BBaker

Published on Stories Space on 15 Mar 2016

Not to be reproduced or used with out my expressed consent.

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/never-the-same.aspx>

Through silence, we drift apart
Nothing to grow the connection of our hearts
Though we were once intimate
I fear the gap between us can never be met
I hesitate to cut all ties, to finally say goodbye
Though I search the depths of my soul
The answers I seek I still don't know
My thoughts drift back to long ago
To times, I cherish within my soul
But that was yesterday, the past
A point which we moved away from fast We both try to hold on tight
Fighting for what once seemed right
But now doubt grips me from within
I wonder if this is my sin?