

Our Angel

By niceguy4401

Published on Stories Space on 10 Sep 2015

To a dear friend I loved and Lost

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/our-angel.aspx>

Introduced to me By a dear friend A broken angel I knew could mend With time and patience And I knew was a must She was shy and scared But I earned her trust Body and soul She'd been wounded deep Her sweet angel wings Now lay at her feet. She and my friend We'd all laugh and cry But somehow I knew We could get her to fly With more time and patience She flapped her wings Her voice as a Robin Beginning to sing Her courage and strength Just grew and grew She'd be just fine My friend and I knew She's now flown away From earth she was taken God took her from us And now we are shaken Our broken angel Has flown like a dove And where ever she's gone She's gone with our love.