

The Little Boy

By Poetic_Justice

Published on Stories Space on 01 Oct 2013

my fiance was taken by ambulance to hospital today I said there was a little boy holding your hand

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/the-little-boy.aspx>

He must have been an angel, He wasn't really there, Riding in that ambulance, I wasn't even scared, You're going to be okay, There's nothing to fear, You're not needed in heaven yet, God still needs you here, I knew you would need me, That's why I was here, Your grandma says to tell you hi, And she'll see you when your time's there.