

The Old Lady and the Biker

By easy_rider75

Published on Stories Space on 28 Mar 2011

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/the-old-lady-and-the-biker.aspx>

This came about for the fact I am slowly restoring an old Ladies frame bicycle a friend gave me so she is my old lady now :) The old lady rides again Old bike new parts New rider new adventures together Ride her fast ride her hard The old lady she rides again No longer does she wait stuck in a barn rustin away Out in the light Cold wind heat and rain The old lady she rides again Her guy on her back He rides her hard He rides her easy Together they carve up the road She rides again New adventures await new roads to be found The old lady she rides again The lady and the biker together they ride Keep each other alive She rides again Her home on the road Not in a barn She rides the roads her home again