

The Waltz

By rune

Published on Stories Space on 25 Sep 2016

2014 - 2019 ALL RIGHTS RESERVED RuneMcGrey

All writing remains RuneMcGrey's property. Don't use it for any purpose without her permission.

Learning to move together with the music ...

<https://www.storiesspace.com/stories/poetry/the-waltz.aspx>

We held each others hand, You held me close in your arms, The music played to start our decent, Where our two left feet take us. We sway familiarizing ourselves, We awkwardly acquainted with the flow, We glide learning step by step, As we have never tried dancing before. You started to confidently lead, You forgot our two left feet, You move briskly into the other side, As we have never tried dancing before. The music take us twirling around, The music made us laughing happily, The music get us closer together, As we have never tried dancing before. Where our minds takes us, Where our body moves as one, Where our heart's desire to dance, As we waltz the night away.